Subject: New UI President Announced

By now I am sure that many of you have seen the announcement of the new UI President. I have attached a couple of links below for your reading pleasure.

Although President Harreld will not be on campus full time until November 2, I am sending him an invitation to speak to our advisory board later this month if his schedule will accommodate.

As you might guess, this non-traditional choice is not without detractors, but I am hopeful about fresh thinking that may be brought to the campus and I am certainly committed to working with the new president for the success of the campus.
