Sarah,

We plan to be in London with a side trip to Greece until mid July, so dinner has to be put on hold for a while. Things are going well here, with a nice measured pace of things to do (art exhibits, some theater, walks, too much eating, visiting with friends, trips to the gym, considerable reading). I'm still working to finish a project with Sam Burer, which, hopefully, is converging to an acceptable paper, although we still have issues to resolve.

So glad that you are working with ARC on the building project. They are a great firm and will provide real value. I certainly trust their opinions. We will help if we can with a reception in London when the Pollack arrives. I'm not up-to-date on the Iowa people here, but do have some of the older contacts. There is not a great tradition of giving back in Europe, but, hopefully, our graduates have not caught that ethic.

We would love to catch up with you and Jeffrey. I'm willing to do what I can to help.

Warmest regards,

Gary

Gary and Carol,

Jeffrey and I would love to meet you two for dinner some evening in the coming weeks. (Either our house or out, I am ambivalent.) I want to update you on our design work inside the college, which has started this summer and continues our association with the original group in Cambridge. I also want to brainstorm a possible London event for alumni when the Jackson Pollock is there on tour. Finally, we just need to catch up. I am copying Matsalyn so she can coordinate.

I hear you may be in London now, and I am ever so jealous.

Looking forward to seeing you soon.
